

Conversations in the coLab

A Dispatch from the World Economic Forum's 49th Annual Meeting in Davos
January 21st - 25th

Wednesday, January 23, 2019

The coLaboratory is Back at Davos!

Greetings again from the Swiss Alps! Johnson & Johnson is back in Davos leading the conversation on sustainable and comprehensive health innovation to address serious societal challenges including mental health and epidemic disease.

Stay tuned for more of our Conversations in the coLaboratory series featuring health leaders, policy-shapers and partners in transforming global health at <https://www.jnj.com/champions-of-science>

Today in Davos

TB: It's Doable. Let's Solve it.

The Global Fund, Stop TB, The Economist and WEF took a first look at a new report about the economic case for greater collective action and funding for drug resistant TB. They shared shocking statistics, including that MDR-TB is predicted to cost $17 trillion over the next 35 years.

Ending Epidemics

Paul Stoffels joined the Coalition for Epidemic Preparedness and Innovations (CEPI), Wellcome Trust and Merck at a press conference to report on progress and preview CEPI's future focus on preventing and containing infectious disease epidemics.

"Diversity is who we are. Inclusion is how we do it."

"Every one of us can think of a few moments that someone did or didn't do something that kept that spark alive."

Kathy Wengel

Stop TB Joins Use For Conversations in the coLaboratory

Our first Conversation in the coLaboratory is live for #WEF19. Seema Kumar sat down with Lucica Ditiu from Stop TB to talk about how TB, one of the world's most misunderstood diseases, will need to rely on public/private partnership to be eradicated.

Welcome Reception

We wrapped up the day up Tuesday with a toast to a successful WEF 2019 during our coLaboratory Welcome Reception.

Are You in Davos?

Be sure to stop by the coLaboratory to say hello, recharge and talk with our team and other guests about the future of science and health!

Follow us on Twitter

Keep up with the latest at the coLaboratory, what's happening on the street and on the WEF main stage @JNJInnovation, @JNJNews, @JNJGlobalHealth, and @JNJAfrica.