Our Commitment to Improving the Health of Women and Children

Strengthening health systems, training healthcare workers and preventing disease among the most vulnerable

All data as of December 2016

jnj.com/our-giving

@JNJGlobalHealth

In 2010, Johnson & Johnson pledged to support Millennium Development Goals (MDG) 4, 5 and 6 with a comprehensive commitment to reach as many as 120 million women and children a year by 2015. This pledge reflects a shared vision of a world in which women are healthy and children live to reach their full potential. For many years, we have been working to fulfill our MDG pledges, improving the lives of more than 400 million women and children over the 5-year timeframe.

Countries with Johnson & Johnson-supported programs

Johnson & Johnson has worked with partners in 84 countries, including most of the MDG target countries.

Our Commitments

As a global healthcare company, our commitment focuses on five areas where we have developed strong, innovative partnerships – and have the potential to foster the greatest improvements in maternal and child health:

1. Fulfilling Our Promise and Making a Difference
2. Strengthening Health Systems, Training Healthcare Workers and Birds
3. Treating and Preventing Infectious Diseases Among Women and Children
4. Making Childhood Immunizations and Vaccines Safer
5. Using Mobile Phoned Technology to Reach Mothers with Vital Health Information

In 2010, Johnson & Johnson pledged to support Millennium Development Goals (MDG) 4, 5 and 6 with a comprehensive commitment to reach as many as 120 million women and children a year by 2015. This pledge reflects a shared vision of a world in which women are healthy and children live to reach their full potential.

Our Impact in Five MDG Focus Areas

Trained Healthcare Workers — A Closer Look

Our Impact in Five MDG Focus Areas

Fulfilling Our Promise and Making a Difference

We work with partners each year to count the women and children who have directly benefited from Johnson & Johnson-supported health programs, and hold ourselves accountable for areas in which gaps remain.

Our Commitment to Improving the Health of Women and Children

Strengthening health systems, training healthcare workers and preventing disease among the most vulnerable

All data as of December 2016

jnj.com/our-giving

@JNJGlobalHealth

In 2010, Johnson & Johnson pledged to support Millennium Development Goals (MDG) 4, 5 and 6 with a comprehensive commitment to reach as many as 120 million women and children a year by 2015. This pledge reflects a shared vision of a world in which women are healthy and children live to reach their full potential.

Countries with Johnson & Johnson-supported programs

Johnson & Johnson has worked with partners in 84 countries, including most of the MDG target countries.

Our Commitments

As a global healthcare company, our commitment focuses on five areas where we have developed strong, innovative partnerships – and have the potential to foster the greatest improvements in maternal and child health:

1. Fulfilling Our Promise and Making a Difference
2. Strengthening Health Systems, Training Healthcare Workers and Birds
3. Treating and Preventing Infectious Diseases Among Women and Children
4. Making Childhood Immunizations and Vaccines Safer
5. Using Mobile Phoned Technology to Reach Mothers with Vital Health Information

In 2010, Johnson & Johnson pledged to support Millennium Development Goals (MDG) 4, 5 and 6 with a comprehensive commitment to reach as many as 120 million women and children a year by 2015. This pledge reflects a shared vision of a world in which women are healthy and children live to reach their full potential.

Our Impact in Five MDG Focus Areas

Trained Healthcare Workers — A Closer Look

Our Impact in Five MDG Focus Areas

Fulfilling Our Promise and Making a Difference

We work with partners each year to count the women and children who have directly benefited from Johnson & Johnson-supported health programs, and hold ourselves accountable for areas in which gaps remain.

Our Commitment to Improving the Health of Women and Children

Strengthening health systems, training healthcare workers and preventing disease among the most vulnerable

All data as of December 2016

jnj.com/our-giving

@JNJGlobalHealth

In 2010, Johnson & Johnson pledged to support Millennium Development Goals (MDG) 4, 5 and 6 with a comprehensive commitment to reach as many as 120 million women and children a year by 2015. This pledge reflects a shared vision of a world in which women are healthy and children live to reach their full potential.

Countries with Johnson & Johnson-supported programs

Johnson & Johnson has worked with partners in 84 countries, including most of the MDG target countries.

Our Commitments

As a global healthcare company, our commitment focuses on five areas where we have developed strong, innovative partnerships – and have the potential to foster the greatest improvements in maternal and child health:

1. Fulfilling Our Promise and Making a Difference
2. Strengthening Health Systems, Training Healthcare Workers and Birds
3. Treating and Preventing Infectious Diseases Among Women and Children
4. Making Childhood Immunizations and Vaccines Safer
5. Using Mobile Phoned Technology to Reach Mothers with Vital Health Information

In 2010, Johnson & Johnson pledged to support Millennium Development Goals (MDG) 4, 5 and 6 with a comprehensive commitment to reach as many as 120 million women and children a year by 2015. This pledge reflects a shared vision of a world in which women are healthy and children live to reach their full potential.

Our Impact in Five MDG Focus Areas

Trained Healthcare Workers — A Closer Look

Our Impact in Five MDG Focus Areas

Fulfilling Our Promise and Making a Difference

We work with partners each year to count the women and children who have directly benefited from Johnson & Johnson-supported health programs, and hold ourselves accountable for areas in which gaps remain.

Our Commitment to Improving the Health of Women and Children

Strengthening health systems, training healthcare workers and preventing disease among the most vulnerable

All data as of December 2016

jnj.com/our-giving

@JNJGlobalHealth

In 2010, Johnson & Johnson pledged to support Millennium Development Goals (MDG) 4, 5 and 6 with a comprehensive commitment to reach as many as 120 million women and children a year by 2015. This pledge reflects a shared vision of a world in which women are healthy and children live to reach their full potential.

Countries with Johnson & Johnson-supported programs

Johnson & Johnson has worked with partners in 84 countries, including most of the MDG target countries.

Our Commitments

As a global healthcare company, our commitment focuses on five areas where we have developed strong, innovative partnerships – and have the potential to foster the greatest improvements in maternal and child health:

1. Fulfilling Our Promise and Making a Difference
2. Strengthening Health Systems, Training Healthcare Workers and Birds
3. Treating and Preventing Infectious Diseases Among Women and Children
4. Making Childhood Immunizations and Vaccines Safer
5. Using Mobile Phoned Technology to Reach Mothers with Vital Health Information

In 2010, Johnson & Johnson pledged to support Millennium Development Goals (MDG) 4, 5 and 6 with a comprehensive commitment to reach as many as 120 million women and children a year by 2015. This pledge reflects a shared vision of a world in which women are healthy and children live to reach their full potential.

Our Impact in Five MDG Focus Areas

Trained Healthcare Workers — A Closer Look

Our Impact in Five MDG Focus Areas

Fulfilling Our Promise and Making a Difference

We work with partners each year to count the women and children who have directly benefited from Johnson & Johnson-supported health programs, and hold ourselves accountable for areas in which gaps remain.

Our Commitment to Improving the Health of Women and Children

Strengthening health systems, training healthcare workers and preventing disease among the most vulnerable

All data as of December 2016

jnj.com/our-giving

@JNJGlobalHealth

In 2010, Johnson & Johnson pledged to support Millennium Development Goals (MDG) 4, 5 and 6 with a comprehensive commitment to reach as many as 120 million women and children a year by 2015. This pledge reflects a shared vision of a world in which women are healthy and children live to reach their full potential.

Countries with Johnson & Johnson-supported programs

Johnson & Johnson has worked with partners in 84 countries, including most of the MDG target countries.

Our Commitments

As a global healthcare company, our commitment focuses on five areas where we have developed strong, innovative partnerships – and have the potential to foster the greatest improvements in maternal and child health:

1. Fulfilling Our Promise and Making a Difference
2. Strengthening Health Systems, Training Healthcare Workers and Birds
3. Treating and Preventing Infectious Diseases Among Women and Children
4. Making Childhood Immunizations and Vaccines Safer
5. Using Mobile Phoned Technology to Reach Mothers with Vital Health Information

In 2010, Johnson & Johnson pledged to support Millennium Development Goals (MDG) 4, 5 and 6 with a comprehensive commitment to reach as many as 120 million women and children a year by 2015. This pledge reflects a shared vision of a world in which women are healthy and children live to reach their full potential.

Our Impact in Five MDG Focus Areas

Trained Healthcare Workers — A Closer Look

Our Impact in Five MDG Focus Areas

Fulfilling Our Promise and Making a Difference

We work with partners each year to count the women and children who have directly benefited from Johnson & Johnson-supported health programs, and hold ourselves accountable for areas in which gaps remain.

Our Commitment to Improving the Health of Women and Children

Strengthening health systems, training healthcare workers and preventing disease among the most vulnerable

All data as of December 2016

jnj.com/our-giving

@JNJGlobalHealth

In 2010, Johnson & Johnson pledged to support Millennium Development Goals (MDG) 4, 5 and 6 with a comprehensive commitment to reach as many as 120 million women and children a year by 2015. This pledge reflects a shared vision of a world in which women are healthy and children live to reach their full potential.

Countries with Johnson & Johnson-supported programs

Johnson & Johnson has worked with partners in 84 countries, including most of the MDG target countries.

Our Commitments

As a global healthcare company, our commitment focuses on five areas where we have developed strong, innovative partnerships – and have the potential to foster the greatest improvements in maternal and child health:

1. Fulfilling Our Promise and Making a Difference
2. Strengthening Health Systems, Training Healthcare Workers and Birds
3. Treating and Preventing Infectious Diseases Among Women and Children
4. Making Childhood Immunizations and Vaccines Safer
5. Using Mobile Phoned Technology to Reach Mothers with Vital Health Information

In 2010, Johnson & Johnson pledged to support Millennium Development Goals (MDG) 4, 5 and 6 with a comprehensive commitment to reach as many as 120 million women and children a year by 2015. This pledge reflects a shared vision of a world in which women are healthy and children live to reach their full potential.

Our Impact in Five MDG Focus Areas

Trained Healthcare Workers — A Closer Look

Our Impact in Five MDG Focus Areas

Fulfilling Our Promise and Making a Difference

We work with partners each year to count the women and children who have directly benefited from Johnson & Johnson-supported health programs, and hold ourselves accountable for areas in which gaps remain.